

The two students pictured above participated in the National Young Leaders State Conference (NYLSC) held in Oakbrook, Illinois, from September 18-21. NYSLC provides guided opportunities for students to develop leadership skills in the eight core leadership areas of communication, conflict resolution, decision-making, goal setting, group dynamics, leadership techniques, project management, and self-awareness. The conference is sponsored by the Congressional Youth Leadership Council. Students must be nominated by a teacher or administrator from their school. Congratulations!
